Rode Services

PROPERTY CONSULTANCY • REAL ESTATE VALUATIONS • REAL ESTATE ECONOMICS • TOWN AND REGIONAL PLANNING

Overview

As one of the largest independent property valuation firms in South Africa, Rode & Associates offers the property industry:

- Real estate economics and research – based on statistical models and regular countrywide surveys, which feed three research publications and over 5000 property time series covering more than three decades
- Property valuation – including retail, residential, commercial, industrial, agricultural and specialised properties such as hotels, hospitals, dormitories, self-storage facilities, airports, and the like
- Property consultancy – which includes forecasts, overviews, and expert analyses for corporates, government departments and private clients
- Town and regional planning – which covers spatial planning and land use management and property market assessments for human settlement development.

Based in Cape Town, Rode serves clients from all over South Africa and Namibia (Windhoek only).

GROUNDBREAKING RESEARCH

Over the years, Rode's research has led to groundbreaking property models and methodologies. This includes the regular, rigorous surveying of market rental levels and capitalization rates through the expert-panel method of polling to provide more uniform and realistic market valuations. Other breakthroughs include:

- A unique econometric model to forecast the South African real estate market
- The statistical determination of standard capitalization rates
- Property demand forecasts
- The estimation of market rentals in shopping centres and for industrial premises of various sizes
- Special methodologies to value income-producing properties
- The development of regression models to estimate the capitalization rates of office properties, industrial properties and shopping centres
- The application of multiple regression techniques to value houses
- Rode's Valuation Method – also known as the opportunity cash flow (OCF) method – to value income-producing properties
- A further refinement to the valuation of land with residential township potential using the direct-comparison method
- A further refinement to the valuation of bare dominions.

RodePlan

SPATIAL AND DEVELOPMENT PLANNERS AND PROPERTY ECONOMISTS

RodePlan specialises in strategic planning, land development, land audits and property research. This work is often supported by geographic information systems (GIS). A discussion of our expertise follows below.

1. Land development: rezoning, subdivision, departure, consent use, removal of title restrictions, land use management schemes (all SPLUMA related) and applications in terms of the Subdivision of Agricultural Land Act, 1970
2. Strategic planning: spatial development frameworks (SDFs), urban development research
3. Human settlement development: human settlement plan, housing sector plan
4. Property market research: determine highest and best use of land; indicator development and monitoring; identification, acquisition and release of land; state of the property market report
5. Municipal integrated development plans (IDPs)
6. Land audits.

RodePlan considers an in-depth understanding of the social, economic, political and environmental elements that underpin present-day society as fundamental to land development in order to complement economic growth and urban restructuring. We develop and apply scenarios and strategies to inform land development and land-use management.

RodePlan also advises private clients on the development potential of specific properties and/or land disposal strategies. This is done applying our expertise as property economists. RodePlan's clients include property owners, developers, engineering companies and government:

Government: Western Cape Provincial Government, Gauteng Provincial Government, Cape Winelands District Municipality, Bergvliet Municipality, Saldanha Bay Municipality, Stellenbosch Municipality

Engineering companies and Independent Power Producers (IPPs): Umoya Energy (Proprietary) Limited, G7 Renewable Energies (Pty) Ltd, Plan 8 (Pty) Ltd, South Africa Mainstream Renewable Power Developments (Pty) Ltd, Solairedirect (SA), Windlab Systems (Pty) Ltd, Ventusa Energy, African Clean Energy Developments (Pty) Ltd, Enertrag South Africa (Pty) Ltd, Nadeson Consulting Services, Aurecon, Mott MacDonald, JG Afrika, EAS Infrastructure Engineers, JPCE Specialist Consulting Engineers

Property owners and developers: Engen Petroleum Limited, Bundi Adventures, Balwin Properties

Other: Ignite Advisory Services (Pty) Ltd, Pricewaterhouse Coopers (PWC), Urban LandMark.

Recent appointments include:

- Co-author of the national IDP Guide, 2020
- Town planner for the Greater Hermanus Human Settlement Project
- Town planner for the design of Public Transport Facilities, Area 3, City of Cape Town
- To determine the highest and best use for two municipal-owned properties in Klapmuts, Stellenbosch Municipality
- To obtain land development rights for the West Coast Integrated Waste Management Facility
- To obtain land use rights for renewable energy facilities in the Western and Northern Cape
- To obtain land use rights for all provincially operated borrow pits in the Western Cape as part of the provincial regravelling programme
- To complete a land audit and land assessment of municipal-owned vacant land in the Saldanha Bay municipal area
- To draft the Stellenbosch Municipality Urban Development Strategy and Integrated Human Settlement Plan
- To participate as spatial planner to complete a peer review of the route alignment for the Wynberg segment of the IRT Phase 2A (Cape Town).

Rode Valuations

As one of South Africa's large valuation firms, Rode annually values property portfolios which include shopping centres, agricultural property, residential, commercial and industrial property. Rode also undertakes municipal property valuations, as well as specialized valuations such as hotels, hospitals, bare dominiums, airports, etc. Rode has been the annual overall top performer in the pmr.africa awards since 2015.

Rode's property valuation services are underpinned by the rigorous surveying of, inter alia, market rental levels and capitalization rates. Rode's valuation services also rely extensively on techniques such as regression models, as well as the opportunity cash flow (OCF) method. This ensures uniform and realistic market valuations, and is Rode's competitive edge.

SHOPPING CENTRES

In the retail field, Rode is considered South Africa's premier shopping-centre valuer due to the firm's technique of calculating market rentals and standard capitalization rates. The firm regresses actual rental rates of recently signed leases against their floor area size to determine the relationship between the market-rental rate and floor area. The latter is a useful tool which landlords can employ to their advantage when negotiating renewals.

FARM VALUATIONS

Rode's agricultural valuation department specialises in the valuation of farms and smallholdings and understands the value-drivers within this sector.

SPECIALIST PROPERTIES

Rode Valuations has done pioneering research on a number of specialist-property typologies, and we regard ourselves as leading valuers with respect to hospitals, self-storage facilities, hotels, retirement villages, bare dominiums (leased fee estates in American parlance) and airports.

Rode Consult

Rode Consult renders property-related research services to the public and private sectors.

As consultants, Rode & Associates are often called upon to do difficult tasks. So, for instance in 1990 Rode analysed and forecast the property market in Maseru for the Lesotho National Development Corporation (LNDC). This project involved, inter alia, forecasting demand trends in Maseru.

Studies often utilise econometric analysis to forecast trends.

Examples of other assignments include:

- Compiling a macro overview of the South African housing market for the national Department of Housing;
- Demand forecasts for specific office nodes, industrial townships, and flats markets;
- Forecasts of rental levels using econometric modelling;
- Property-portfolio analysis;

- Long-term forecasts of property values in South Africa;
- An analysis of the property market in towns and municipalities;
- Acting as an expert witness in arbitration and litigation;
- Assessment of market potential for commercial property ventures such as new or existing office complexes, retail centres, light industrial nodes, etc. To do this, property market indicators are identified and analyzed, e.g. supply and demand analysis (type & size), rentals (R/m^2), selling prices, escalation rates (%), vacancies (%), take-up rates (%).
- Advisory services to implement the Government Immovable Asset Management Act, Act 19 of 2007 (GIAMA);
- Research to determine the highest and best use for unused and underutilised government immovable assets.

Major recent clients of the division include: the City of Cape Town, the Western Cape Government, the Auditor-General of South Africa (AGSA), engineering firms and property developers.

Rode Publications

RODE'S REPORT ON THE SOUTH AFRICAN PROPERTY MARKET

Rode's Report analyses and reports on most sectors of the property market in the metropolitan areas and some secondary cities. It covers, inter alia, rental levels per m^2 by property type, grade, size and node/township; capitalization rates by type of property, grade and location; building costs by type; building activity; etc. It excludes the retail property market. The publication is updated quarterly and available only in digital format.

RODE'S RETAIL REPORT ON SOUTH AFRICA

Rode's Retail Report reports on the state of the retail property market by analysing the most recent retail sales and trading-density statistics. Retail property information includes street-front shop rentals per m^2 by size for about 120 street-front micro-locations in six metropolitan areas. The publication also reports on developments of new shopping centres and major extensions to existing shopping centres. The publication is updated quarterly and available only in digital format.

RODE'S SOUTH AFRICAN PROPERTY TRENDS

Trends contains forecasts of various property variables like rentals and capitalization rates by city, six years into the future. The forecasts are updated every six months using econometric models and cover the major South African metropolitan areas, thus giving a complete framework for property investment planning and viability studies. The publication is updated semi-annually and is available only in digital format.

TIME SERIES LITE

Use Rode's reliable historical data to aid your research, strategic decision making and presentations. This digital database provides online access to more than 2 000 property-related time series – many going back more than three decades. The database includes key property time series like capitalisation rates, and office and industrial rentals. The data covers all metropolitan areas and some secondary cities. It is updated quarterly and available only in digital format.

TIME SERIES PRO

This is an extension of Rode's Time Series Lite database and contains about 6 000 property-related time series – many going back more than three decades. A must for the serious property analyst. Time Series is updated quarterly and available only in digital format.

Shopping centre definitions

Super Regional: More than 100.000 rentable m²; more than 250 stores; comparison and specialised shopping very important; widest possible tenant mix with at least seven anchor tenants; large entertainment component such as cinema, electronic games, ice rinks. Examples are: Mall of Africa (Johannesburg); Menlyn Park (Pretoria), The Pavilion (Durban); Canal Walk (Cape Town).

Regional: 50.000-100.000 rentable m²; 150-250 stores; anchors in most cases two large supermarkets (more than 5.000 m²) or one large supermarket (8.000 m²); significant entertainment component like cinema, electronic games/games arcade. Examples are: Mall of the South (Johannesburg); Forest Hill (Pretoria); Tyger Valley and N1 City Mall (Cape Town); Loch Logan Waterfront (Bloemfontein); Hemingways (East London); Garden Route Mall (George).

Small Regional: 25.000-50.000 rentable m²; 75-150 stores; generally serves as larger community centre; some of these centres also address needs of a specific market segment; anchor tenant is large supermarket (bigger than approximately 4.000 m²); up to two or three food anchors can be on offer in one centre; focus of the tenant mix is on comparative shopping in clothing and household items; entertainment mainly focused on cinemas. Examples are: La Lucia Mall (Durban); Walmer Park (Port Elizabeth); Mimosa Mall (Bloemfontein); Langeberg Mall (Mossel Bay).

Community: 12.000-25.000 rentable m²; 50-150 stores; offers a wider tenant mix than a neighbourhood centre; anchor tenant one or two large supermarkets bigger than 2.500 m²; Dis-Chem and Clicks are popular tenants; some might have cinemas; Examples are: Cosmo Mall (Johannesburg); Middestad Mall (Cape Town); Mall@Lebo (Lebowakgomo, near Polokwane); Brandwag Centre (Bloemfontein); Beacon Bay Retail Park (East London).

Neighbourhood: 5.000-12.000 rentable m²; 25-50 stores; anchor tenant is well-known food retailer - could also be a combination of two food retailers; other tenant types are convenience retailers, such as a pharmacy, butchery, hairdresser, dry cleaner, liquor store; hardware store, small clothing stores, restaurants and takeaways, independent stores run by residents. Examples are: Kyalami on Main (Johannesburg); Jean Avenue (Pretoria), Plattekloof Village (Cape Town).

Local Convenience Centre: 1.000-5.000 rentable m²; 5-25 stores; caters mainly for daily milk and bread purchases; the principal tenant is a café or grocer like Kwik Spar/OK MiniMark; Could include takeaway foods, local restaurants, DVD stores, banks and ATM facilities. Examples are: Kenilworth Corner (Cape Town); Amalinda Square (East London).

Lifestyle Centre: 15.000-50.000 rentable m²; not a popular format in South Africa; role is to offer a unique retail shopping and entertainment experience in a relaxed and attractive environment. Characteristics are: a variety of dining options, inviting public spaces including fountains and street furniture, an upmarket tenant mix. Examples are: Lynnwood Bridge (Pretoria); The Palms Décor and Lifestyle Centre (Woodstock, Cape Town); Willowbridge (South) in Tyger Valley (Cape Town).

Value centre: Multi-tenanted strip centre; 10.000-50.000 m²; warehouse type finishes to deliver lower prices to consumers. Examples are Fourways Crossing (Johannesburg); Moffet Retail Park (Port Elizabeth); Capegate Value Centre (Cape Town).

Big Box Retailer: Stand-alone; one or two tenants; 2.000-15.000 m²; air-conditioned, no ceiling, warehouse-like finishes, e.g. Makro, Builders Warehouse and Game.

Foreword

Dear Reader

Welcome to the first issue of Rode's Retail Report (RRR) for 2020. In this issue, we highlight that consumer spending will be under severe pressure – even after the complete lifting of the lockdown. In case you have been living in full isolation in a dark room with no internet and TV, the effect is devastating to retailers and will seriously throttle landlords' rental streams.

The sharply lower interest rates and the slowdown in new shop space are shorter- and longer-term positives, but don't expect a miracle from lower interest rates – as we explain in this issue.

Lynette Smit and Samantha Harkers-Kies are in charge of expanding our survey panel. We appeal to all market participants who feel they have adequate property-market knowledge to become a panellist, to please contact Lynette or Samantha on 021 946 2480 — it is for the benefit of everyone in the industry. As a panellist, you will also get invaluable exposure.

Advertisers interested in advertising in the full-colour RRR can contact Lynette on 082 323 5799 for further details.

Readers are welcome to contact me at kobus@rode.co.za for any enquiries, comments or suggestions related to this publication.

We wish you plenty of profit in these testing times!

State of the retail property market

Kobus Lamprecht

In a nutshell:

- Covid-19 pandemic throttles landlords
- Latest retail sales data remain weak
- New retail space will fall sharply

The retail property market is under severe pressure as the coronavirus crisis has worsened already weak prospects for the oversupplied market. It is worth mentioning that retail sales growth was at a 10-year low even before the pandemic hit South Africa.

The economy is widely expected to see a sharp contraction in 2020, which will have enormous consequences as many people are expected to lose their jobs or experience salary cuts. Worryingly, consumers will avoid places of mass gatherings, like malls, even after the five-week lockdown is lifted. This implies that consumer spending will decline drastically in 2020, leading to sharply falling retail sales. The blow will be cushioned somewhat by income support measures (like UIF and the Solidarity Fund), credit purchases, lower interest rates and subdued inflation.

Landlords will see a sharp dip in rental income in April and May (maybe even longer) as they give discounts to those retailers impacted by the lockdown. Non-essential stores are impacted the most as they are forced to be shut during the entire lockdown period. Details of the rental relief package formulated by an Alliance of landlords are discussed and shown in the Rentals section.

The lockdown has also led to the halt of all retail construction projects, which will result in even less completed retail space this year. This is a positive for the oversupplied market.

In this article, we first focus on the impact of Covid-19 on rentals, before looking at the demand for merchandise by analysing the ability of consumers to spend. We also delve deeper into the latest retail sales statistics and trading densities for malls. Lastly, the supply of new shopping centre space is considered.

Rentals

Rode's street-front rental survey for the first quarter of 2020 starts on p. 27. The survey was conducted in February 2020 – an important point in the light of the Covid-19 outbreak thereafter, which will significantly reduce rentals in the near term.

Covid-19 led to a five-week lockdown, resulting in the closure of all non-essential stores. Essential stores allowed to operate include pharmacies and those selling food, implying that most retailers will see a huge loss in income. Consequently, many retailers (like TFG, Pepkor and KFC) have indicated that they won't be paying rent for April or have asked for discounts.

This resulted in industry coming up with a plan in early April. An Alliance was formed, dubbed the Property Industry Group, made up of the SA REIT Association (SA REIT), SA Property Owners Association (SAPOA) and SA Council of Shopping Centres (SACSC). These are the three largest industry bodies in the commercial property sector, indicating the extent of the crisis.

The Alliance came with a relief package that offers rental discounts of between 15% and 100%, as well as interest-free rental deferrals for April and May, depending on the impact of the lockdown. Guidelines on how relief must be applied according to the Alliance are given in Tables 1.1, 1.2 and 1.3.

Landlords can use their discretion with regard to the relief and assistance they give to retail tenants, but the guidelines stipulate the minimum that qualifying retailers can expect. The Alliance said at the time that the industry-wide relief package "assumes" that SA's lockdown will not extend beyond three weeks and said that, if extended, it will be critical for stimulus packages such as those provided by the government, banking sector and solidarity funds to kick in to weather this storm.

Retailers (represented by TFG, Truworths, Mr Price, Woolworths and Pepkor) came up with a counter-proposal for the lockdown-period that specifies the payment of all utilities consumed by retailers during lockdown, and 20% of normal rental and operating costs. It is not clear what the final agreement will be between landlords and retailers, but what is clear is that the rental income of landlords will be substantially lower in April and May.

SMME retailers (annual turnover of up to R80 million)

| Category | Basic assistance and relief | Interest-free deferment recovery period |
|--|--|--|
| Level 1: Highly impacted retailers (e.g. companies selling time and services such as restaurants, hairdressers, travel agents, take-aways, etc.) | April 2020: 35% to 100% of April 2020 rental and further potential relief could be in the form of rental deferrals May 2020: Up to 50% of May 2020 rental and further relief could be in the form of rental deferrals | Over six to nine months from 1 July 2020 |
| Level 2: Medium-impacted retailers (e.g. companies selling products that don't have a limited shelf-life etc.) | April 2020: 35% to 50% rental discount and further potential relief could be in the form of rental deferrals May 2020: Up to 25% rental discount and further relief such as rental deferrals | Over six to nine months from 1 July 2020 |

Tenants' financial position and balance sheet strength to be assessed by landlord to determine category.
Landlords have flexibility and discretion, on a case-by-case basis, to adjust parameters; however, minimums are set as the base guideline.
Normal or better trading assessed considering rent-to-sales ratios, balance sheet, stock availability, etc.

Most of the information that follows below is provided as background. New data will change dramatically due to the impact of Covid-19.

Sales

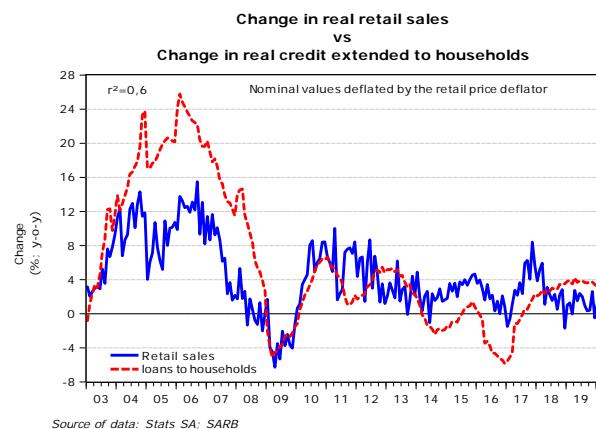

Spending by consumers or households is related to their disposable income relative to inflation, confidence and access to credit. Growth in real expenditure of households increased by 1% in 2019, slowing from the 1,8% growth recorded in 2018, despite a somewhat better performance in the fourth quarter. Consumer spending is under significant pressure due to slower disposable income growth and depressed consumer confidence. Some of the factors putting pressure on household finances are slower wage growth, sharply rising unemployment, a lack of consumer appetite for the purchase of durable goods and the rising cost of living. The Bureau of Economic Research of Stellenbosch University said in April that more than a million people could lose their jobs due to the current economic downturn, exacerbated by the impact of Covid-19.

In the meantime, household expenditure is still being supported by credit growth, although the monthly increases have tapered off somewhat of late (see chart). Real credit extended to households (dotted line in the chart) in the 12 months to January 2020 increased by 3,7% year on year, up from the 3% pace recorded in the preceding 12 months.

A coefficient of determination (r^2) of 0,6 in the chart means that up to 60% of the changes in real retail sales are explained by changes in real credit extended to households, without controlling for other independent variables such as interest rates, inflation and disposable incomes. Note how a recovery in debt extension held up spending during the past two years.

The latest data of retail sales remain weak. Retail sales in January 2020 grew in real terms by 1,2% year on year. Sales also grew at the same rate in the 12 months to January 2020 compared to the preceding 12-month period, staying at a 10-year low. We expect sales will hit a new low this year due to the impact of Covid-19 on top of an already existing business-cycle downturn.

A closer look at the trends in real sales in Table 2 reveals mostly slow growth across most retailer types. General dealers (about 42% weight in total sales) recorded sales growth of 1%. Retailers of household furniture, appliances & equipment (+3,4%) and textiles, clothing, footwear & leather goods (+1,9%) had the strongest increases of all categories, boosted by minimal price changes compared to the preceding 12 months.

Retailer inflation averaged 2,6% in the 12 months to January 2020, lower than headline or general inflation of 4,2% (see CPI Headline on p. 43 for historical data). Inflation is likely to remain subdued, despite the weaker rand, as weak demand means retailers are unlikely to pass cost increases on to consumers. However, low inflation has not really translated into stronger retail sales growth, implying that consumers are under too much financial pressure to lift purchases.

Retail sales levels will come under severe pressure in the near term due to a further deterioration in household finances and super-low consumer confidence. We expect income levels to be hit hard due to job cuts and salary reductions, which could see real consumer spending contract sharply in 2020. Credit purchases, the strong dive in interest rates and low inflation should prevent a collapse in sales.

Trading densities in malls

Nominal trading densities (sales/m²) in malls increased by 6,1% in the 12 months to December 2019 compared to the previous 12 months (see the chart above), according to MSCI Real Estate, published in the SAPOA Retail Trends Report. This is the same as the revised 6,1% growth seen in the year to September 2019. Thus, trading densities are continuing to grow in real terms, after adjusting for retail inflation (which, as per Table 2, is much lower than the general inflation as measured by the CPI). In interpreting the graph, note that while the line representing changes in nominal sales is below the zero line, sales per m² are contracting, though the pace of contraction varies.

The 6,1% nominal trading-density increase comprised a 6,9% increase in total sales, while the occupied trading area rose by 0,8%. Nominal sales growth of the overall retail market was 3,8% in the year ended December 2019, implying that MSCI's sample of mall-based retailers continued to outperform the overall retail market.

Delving deeper into MSCI's data reveals that foot count/m² increased by 4,5% – this metric has now grown every month since April 2019. However, expenditure per consumer increased by only 1,5%. Thus, shoppers are visiting malls more, but not maintaining their spend per visit. Other statistics generally point to malls still being under pressure. For example, the vacancy rate of malls was still high at 4,6% in the fourth quarter, above its long-term average of 2,9%.

Table 3 shows the change in trading densities for the 12 months to December 2019, as well as the latest vacancy rate by retailer type. It is clear from the table that the growth in trading densities was driven mostly by neighbourhood and community centres, which recorded above-inflation trading-density growth of 17,2% and 5,4% respectively. The larger centres (especially regional centres) seem to be struggling the most, with trading-density growth averaging below 3%. In evaluating these growth rates, consider that the retail inflation (Table 2) clocked only 2,6% in 2019.

How to interpret the trend towards smaller centres? Our explanation is that discretionary spending – the merchandise offered by the large centres – is under pressure. This seems to be supported by the data in Table 2.

Table 4 provides more detail by showing the change in trading densities by merchandise category for the 12 months to December 2019. Electronics (+9,3%) recorded the best growth, followed by department stores (+6,8%) and food services (+6,6%). Apparel shops (2,9%) had the slowest trading-density growth.

Note, these are nominal growth rates.

The good performance of department stores is puzzling. However, one explanation could be the closure of some department stores, which reduced the denominator (floor area) in the calculation.

Supply of new shopping centre space

As for the supply side of the retail property market, Table 5 shows a breakdown by year and by geographic area of new shopping centre completions larger than 5 000 m², including major extensions.

Completions of new malls countrywide increased sharply in 2019, a turnaround from 2018's sharp fall, according to Rode's calculations. Most new space was in Gauteng, such as the Fourways Mall (extension of 90 000 m²). What this trend illustrates is that mall completions are a lagging indicator of the economy.

We expect completions to fall significantly in 2020, given the low number of centres already under construction and delays caused by the five-week lockdown. Developers are also significantly scaling back their medium-term building plans, which is not surprising given the weak economic outlook and oversupply. Thus, building plans passed for shopping centres in the 12 months ended January 2020 declined by 5%, according to Stats SA. Fairvest, an owner and developer of shopping centres in rural areas and small towns, said in March that it would not attempt new developments until market conditions improved. Less new shopping space will surely be a relief for landlords of existing shopping centres, given the challenges facing the sector.

In sum ...

The retail property market is under severe pressure from all angles. Retail sales are to fall sharply in the near term due to a further deterioration in household finances and awfully low consumer confidence, not to mention the effect of a prolonged shutdown of society. Credit purchases, the aggressive lowering of short-term interest rates and low inflation will to some degree support sales – but don't expect miracles because the lowering of interest rates is not good at boosting economic activity when there are strong underlying counter-currents – compared with the hiking of interest rates, which is good at throttling growth. In practice, landlords will be forced to share the cost of lower retail sales with their tenants.

On the supply side, the market is still under pressure from too much shopping space. A positive for the sector's prospects is that new supply is likely to be significantly less in the next few years. ■
